

FINAL TRIBUTES TO CLINT B. LEIGH

Great Outpouring of Friends and Floral Offerings at Funeral.

MR. PERKINS OFFICIATES AT FUNERAL.

OBSEQUIES OF A SIMPLE BUT IMPRESSIVE NATURE.

The funeral of Clint B. Leigh, The Herald representative, killed in the Birmingham disaster Friday afternoon, was held from the family residence, 276 Wall street, Capitol hill, at 3:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

The services were of the simplest nature, the Episcopal ritual being read by Rev. C. E. Perkins, and Rev. Benjamin Young offering prayer.

Crowded in the house and upon the porch and lawn were nearly 200 of Mr. Leigh's friends, representatives of the press, men of affairs and those on intimate terms with the family. Representing the best in the life of the city, they had gathered to pay a last tribute to the memory of a man whom they had all loved and respected for his sporting worth and attainments.

The casket was buried in a mass of floral offerings, the display being one of the most beautiful ever seen in Salt Lake. These came from the legislature, the Press club, the daily newspapers and other friends, and were an eloquent token of the esteem in which the man was held.

In his prayer Rev. Benjamin Young paid a touching tribute to the deceased newspaper man.

The pallbearers were William Igleheart, A. F. Phillips, S. C. Wing, J. S. Bransford, S. M. Steinhilber and C. L. Lary. Preceding them were the four honorary pallbearers, Representatives Henry Kirchner, Miller and Anderson, and Scores with bowed heads lined the walk on either side as the casket was borne from the house. A moment later Mrs. Leigh emerged, accompanied by her brother-in-law, Joseph Lippman. She walked firmly and held her head high, a noble picture of the cultured woman of the south. With all the evidences of mourning emphasizing her bereavement, she made no display of her grief, maintaining her composure and dignity at a time when many women present gave way to tears.

When the procession started on its long journey to Mount Olivet cemetery, the best resting place of Clint B. Leigh, an extra carriage was thrown open and filled with the floral offerings.

At the cemetery the Episcopal commitment services were read and after a short prayer the casket was placed in the cemetery vault.

The floral tributes included three pieces from the house of representatives, a floral harp from the Salt Lake Herald, the Press club, the city council, Manufacturers and Merchants' association, Boston Consolidated Mining company, Daughters of the Confederacy and about twenty-five individual friends.

TAFT'S BODY IS EN ROUTE

Members of Legislature Pay Last Respects to Their Deceased Colleague.

The body of the late Representative Seth Taft, who was killed in the accident at Birmingham on Friday last, left here yesterday morning at 8 o'clock, via the Rio Grande Western, for his home in Thurber, Wayne county, Ohio.

The members of the legislature assembled at the undertaking rooms of Joseph William Taylor at 7 o'clock and a few minutes later the start for the depot was made, the members marching after the hearse which bore the body. A committee consisting of Senators Brinkhoff, Miller and Johnson, and Representatives Dorius, M. Jensen and Meeks, Sergeant-at-Arms Chapman and Chaplain Hesse, went as far as Richfield, where a committee will be appointed from there to accompany the remains to Thurber, sixty miles beyond Richfield.

The floral tributes were profuse, and all of these were taken to the station and shipped with the body. The trip was made in a special car draped with the customary insignia of death. The train arrived at Richfield about noon and the start for Thurber was made a little later. The roads are said to be in fair shape and the party is expected to arrive in Thurber by noon today, when the funeral will be held.

TO THE WOMAN

Who does not know "L'irresistible" or the "Gossard" front-laced corset—the woman who appreciates elegance and beauty, cultivates grace, cherishes health, understands comfort and seeks contentment, will find all these and experience the utmost satisfaction in her "L'irresistible" or in her "Gossard."

KAYSVILLE'S NEW BISHOP.

Henry H. Blood Succeeds Peter Barton.

Kaysville ecclesiastical ward was reorganized yesterday. Henry H. Blood was installed as bishop, Christopher Burton, Jr., as first counselor, and L. A. Blum as second counselor. Bishop Peter Barton, with his counselors, John R. Barnes and Harry J. Sheffield, resigned about three weeks ago. Their resignations were not acted on until yesterday, when the bishopric was reorganized.

LINE OPENS WEDNESDAY

Large Force of Men Repairing Damage on Salt Lake Route.

The washouts along the Salt Lake Route in the vicinity of Caliente, which have disorganized the road and stopped all through traffic for the past several days, are being remedied with all dispatch possible, and it is announced that the road will be ready to resume through traffic by next Wednesday.

Through telegraphic communication was resumed Sunday by means of a wire, and the road was opened as far as Minto. All work trains and available men are now on the scene of the washouts and the work of reconstruction is being pushed with all haste. The principal washout is between Minto and Caliente, where a large force of men was at work Sunday.

Until the road is reopened through passenger trains will be unable to proceed to the Southern Pacific. The Salt Lake Route is maintaining its local service as far west as Minto, to which point the first train, since the washouts occurred, was run Monday. Prior to Sunday traffic was discontinued west of Minto.

RESPONSIBILITY TO GOD.

Theme of Rev. D. A. Brown's Sermon at Baptist Church.

At the First Baptist church last evening, the pastor, Rev. D. A. Brown, took for his theme the individual responsibility of man to God. The sermon was in part as follows:

"I want you to know this great truth. First, you must have a knowledge of your individual responsibility to God. If you note closely the thoughts expressed by Paul you will have the proof of the existence of this responsibility. Viewing Athens at the time of Paul's visit, you will find that there was no God in Athens, but Paul took the ground that in man's inner consciousness God is ever present. The worship of God was set forth in the teachings of even these people. It was in their hearts, although they themselves did not understand this. In my study of the word I have learned the truth of this. You have the stamp in your nature to make you responsible and you cannot shift this responsibility to me or to any one else. It is between God and you."

"So Paul said to the Athenians: 'You are as bad and as wicked as you can be, but this is no excuse, for God is in your souls. You cannot be conscious of a potentiality, only of a reality, and God in your souls proves to you daily that He is.'"

"Human Hearts" is another of the plays that wear well. Year after year it comes to Salt Lake and night after night it is a recurring visit, the theatre is packed to the doors to witness the touching drama. Last night when it opened its present visit at the Grand was no exception—an audience that tested the capacity of the theatre was present. It was not only present but it gave every evidence of its appreciation. It had been a long time since the theatre had been so packed. It had been a long time since the theatre had been so packed. It had been a long time since the theatre had been so packed.
